Caller reported that someone backed into the front end of his vehicle and left without exchanging information. I observed the caller's vehicle and did not observe any damage. I asked the caller if there was any damage and he said there was a scratch. I asked him to show me where it is because I did not see it. The caller was getting upset with me and I told him I needed to see the scratch on the vehicle so I can document it in the report. The caller said to me "I don't have time for this on my Sunday". He walked away from me and sat in The Beach Plum seating area. A witness approached me and said the caller was making a big deal about nothing. The vehicle (NH dealer plate "EJ") bumped the caller's vehicle. The operator got out and spoke to the caller. The caller demanded the operator give him his information. The operator saw no damage and said he would give him the information if there was damage. The caller started yelling and told the operator was not allowed to leave unless he was given the operator's information. The operator got into the vehicle and drove off. No information came back to the other vehicle.
